Employee Communications

Put your message right between their eyes!

Deliver effective, informative, and timely information to employees in your corporate offices, distribution centers, production areas, and break rooms.

FrameRate's digital signage systems are ideal for employee information displays. Easily inform and educate your employees on the go rather than with static and rarely visited employee bulletin boards.

Employers are discovering the unique capabilities that an employee message center (EMC) provides to meet their particular needs. Posting information on an EMC about benefits, awards, policy changes, production and financial metrics, meeting notices, or various management messages is an effective way for an employer to communicate important information to their employees.

Strengthen employee relations by posting local community or employee events and information. Employee message centers, even in small companies, helps employees stay informed -- often becoming the central source of company news and special event dates.

A breakthrough in cost effective visual communications

A FrameRate's Employee Message Center is one of the most powerful communications tools available to a facility due to its color flexibility, text, graphics, logos, basic animation, and its multiple font styles and sizes capabilities.

If a picture is worth a thousand words, what is a movie worth? Captivating, dynamic, in-your-face visual messages go far beyond static bulletin boards, email, or memos to "distribution." Video captures attention and once captured, your message can be drilled home quickly, quietly, and to many employees at the same time.
